

INTERNATIONAL INORGANIC CHEMISTRY CONFERENCE IN KENYA,

22nd – 24th May 2018, UNIVERSITY OF NAIROBI

(SECOND CALL)

THEME: Inorganic Chemistry Technological Innovations and its contributions in Socio-economic Development

1. PREAMBLE

We are happy to announce the International Inorganic Chemistry Conference (IICC) that will be held from 22nd – 24th May 2018, at the University of Nairobi in Kenya. The Conference is jointly being organized by the University of Nairobi and the International Science Programme of Uppsala University, Sweden.

The conference objective is to promote Inorganic chemistry through collaboration, research, training, and information sharing. The conference will bring together scientists in Academia, researchers, Industry, entrepreneurs and policy makers to discuss the wider application of Inorganic Chemistry in socio-economic development and environmental management. There will be a Workshop for young researchers and students on 25th May 2018. On behalf of the organizing committee, we cordially invite you to participate in the Conference and Workshop. We look forward to meeting you at Chiromo Campus, University of Nairobi, Kenya.
